DHHS/DWSS: INFANT AND EARLY CHILDHOOD MENTAL HEALTH (IECMH)

Date: 5/12/2025

Name: Rhonda Lawrence

Email: rlawrence@dcfs.nv.gov

Summary:

- Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health Services at Southern Nevada Child/Adolescent Services in Clark County, and Northern Nevada Child/Adolescent Services in Reno continues to provide dyadic parent/caregiver - child psychotherapy for children birth to 7-8 years old. While there are several other clinics with clinicians who provide infant/early childhood mental health services in Nevada, the Division of Child and Family Services is the only agency with staffing solely devoted to the provision of infant/early childhood mental health services utilizing an evidence-based model - Child Parent Psychotherapy.
 - Although other community-based mental health agencies have clinical personnel who may be trained in Child Parent Psychotherapy or Parent Child Interaction Therapy - the Nevada Division of Child and Family Services provide the only clinics devoted to infant and early childhood mental health services.
- Continued....

IECMH Continued....

- The Nevada Division of Child and Family Services currently has 17 State positions devoted to infant/early childhood mental health services (10 at Southern NV Child/Adolescent Services in 3 community clinics; and 7 at Northern NV Child/Adolescent Services at the Reno clinic location).
- There is a great need in Nevada for more community-based mental health clinics focused specifically on infant/early childhood mental health - as a "secondary prevention" service. Clinics that are able to establish a base of experienced clinical reflective supervisors are better able to implement and sustain training in evidence-based practices (Child Parent Psychotherapy and/or Parent Child Interaction Therapy) thus ensuring families have the best chance at ameliorating a child's future mental health issues.

The planning process has been a collaborative effort, engaging the Strong Start Leadership Team, community partners, and parents to ensure that all objectives align with Nevada’s early childhood systems initiatives and reflect the needs and priorities of families. PCI underscores an equity-centered approach, emphasizing the vital role of family and parent leadership in decision-making.
